

Twp. Eyes Sept. Start For New 'City Hall'

By SCOOP LEWIS
Courier-Times Staff Writer

Bristol Township's new municipal building isn't off the ground yet, but plans are in the works for a spacious, modern "city hall" which will "dress up" Bucks County's largest municipality.

Contracts for the building, which will cost about $500,000, are expected to be awarded next month. Test borings already have been taken on the 10 acres of land on Bath Road on the site of the old Laurel Bend School.

Control Center

Final plans and specifications have been completed by the architect, Martin M. Laibow, A.I.A., of Cornwells Heights.

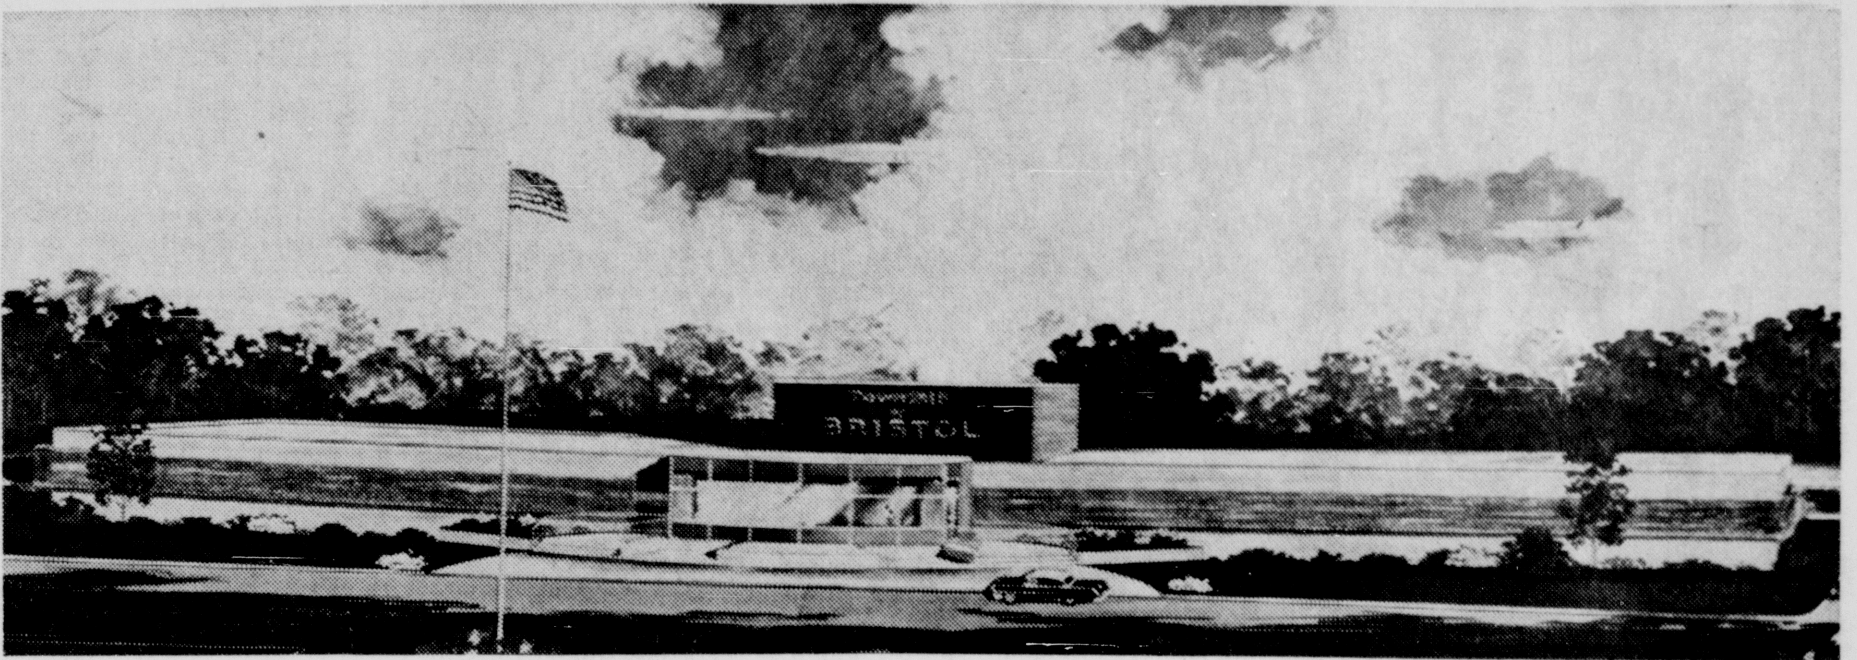

All that remains is approval from Civil Defense authorities in regards to the CD control center which will occupy 6,000-square feet of area in the basement of the building.

Barring unforeseen delays, construction of the building may start in September with completion expected early in 1965.

Built In 1867

When completed, the building will replace the ancient massive stone building at 85 Holly Drive, Levittown, which now serves the township's 63,000 residents.

Built in 1867 by Phineas Pemberton, the present township building has outgrown the de-
(Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

This architect's drawing by Martin M. Laibow shows how the new Bristol Township municipal building will look when completed, possibly early next year. (Courier-Times Photo)

Swept 600 Yards Down Europe's Highest Mountain

Ex-Ski Champ, 13 Others Killed In Alps Avalanche

CHAMONIX, France, (UPI) —An avalanche today killed 14 persons on Mont Blanc, including former world slalom champion Charles Bozon of France.

Mountain rescue officials said the victims were swept 600 yards down Europe's highest mountain. Bozon and the group were climbing the beautiful Aiguille Verte (Green Peak) slope not far from the 15,777-foot summit of Mont Blanc.

Rescue workers said a huge wall of snow roared down the famous mountain, engulfing the 14 climbers who were roped together.

Seven bodies were recovered almost immediately.

The other bodies were found later and all 14 bodies were flown down to Chamonix by helicopter, police said.

The accident took place at

CHARLES BOZON

11 a.m. (6 a.m. EDT), officials said.

Bozon, 31, the 1962 world

special slalom champion and a bronze medal winner at the 1960 Olympics at Squaw Valley, Calif., was climbing with three other instructors and 10 pupils from the French National Ski and Mountain Climbing School in this famed resort near the Swiss border.

The upper reaches of Mont Blanc remain snow-covered throughout the year. Today's sudden avalanche recalled a similar disaster last April 12, when American Olympic star Bud Werner of Steamboat Springs, Colo., and German woman ski champion Barbi Henneberger were killed while making a film in the Swiss Alps near St. Mortiz.

Bozon's party today set out at dawn to ascend 13,500-foot Aiguille Verte slope, which is considered one of the easier slopes for Alpinists in the rugged Mont Blanc Massif.

Fourth Post Office Theft

$1,118 In Stamps Stolen In Oakford

State Police of Trevose Barracks and the Bensalem Criminal Investigation Division are investigating the burglary of the U.S. Post Office in Oakford over the holiday weekend.

The theft involved $170 in cash and $1,118 in postage stamps from an 800-pound steel combination safe which the thieves peeled open after being unable to remove it from the office.

Discovers Burglary

The burglary was discovered by Walter Hilsbos, owner of the building which is leased to the Post Office Department. Hilsbos lives next door to the post office located at 4418 Bristol Road.

Hilsbos discovered the door of the rented building open yesterday at about 8 a.m. and immediately notified state police. The theft occurred sometime between Friday at 6 p.m. and yesterday morning.

Door Pried Open

Entrance was gained by prying open a front door. Bensalem Police Chief William F. Riemp said the thieves apparently tried to remove the safe from the premises but were unable to get it through the door. The safe is 49½ inches high, 30½ inches deep and 30 inches wide.

Chief Post Office Clerk Irene Suhocki of 519 Lacebark St., Trevose, in charge of the Oakford Post Office, listed the amount of cash and stamps taken.

State Police Trooper James Faillace and Bensalem CID Det. Robert Bell are continuing the investigation.

This was the fourth Post Office burglary in Bucks County in the past six months. The Trevose branch of Langhorne Post Office was burglarized on April 6 and the Post Offices in Point Pleasant and Washington Crossing on Feb. 4.

Assault News

Greets Taylor

SAIGON, Viet Nam (UPI)—Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor arrived in Saigon today to arrive on the toughest American diplomat post abroad and was greeted with news of another battalion-size assault on U.S.-supported Vietnamese forces by Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

INDEX

Amusements	12
Classified	17-21
Comics	22, 23
Editorials	6
Editorial Features	7
Jacoby	14
Movies	12
Obituaries	21
Sports	15, 16
Stocks	9
TV Review	12
TV Schedule	23
Women's News	4, 5

Classified No. W1 3-1000
Night Classified W1 6-4600

Mercury Rises, But No Rain

Temperatures headed for the 90-degree mark today as another hot spell moved into Lower Bucks. But the weatherman had no rain to offer the area's drought-stricken farmers.

The warm weather is to continue tomorrow with more humid temperatures in store.

At 3 p.m. today the thermometer reading was 87 degrees.

Thus far July has produced only four one-hundredths of an inch of rain. The entire month of June brought only 1.37 inches of rain, well below the month's normal rainfall of 3.60 inches. The last rain of consequence in the area was on June 15 when 84 one-hundredths of an inch was recorded by the Trenton Weather Bureau.

Good Evening!

It won't be long—the GOP's three-ring circus in Cow Palace.

Quite a show it should be. But it would be more interesting if Dwight Eisenhower would quit stalling and come out NOW in favor of Governor Scranton; although at that, you wonder sometimes whether the general's support would help or hurt the Pennsylvanian.

By comparison, the Democratic meeting at Atlantic City will be something for the vacationers seeking escape from all of the sound and the fury.

President Johnson and his party leaders just don't seem to have much to fight about, since the Civil Rights bill is already the law of the land.

Mercury heading for the 90's by noon today, and here we go again.

We wish somebody would go after a couple of days of soaking rain which the Eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey region has desperately needed for weeks. This long dry spell even discouraging to the mosquitoes — their heart no longer in their bite.

Well sir, the score is in.

Exactly 504 men, women and children killed in traffic accidents across the nation during the long July 4th weekend and it just doesn't seem possible we in America could do this to people. But there it is.

All-Star game at Shea stadium today and there doesn't seem to be much reason why the National Leaguers shouldn't lower the boom on the American League baseballers, what with Jim Bunning and Chris Short to help along with the pitching chores.

Of more interest to this corner, however, is the beginning of that series at Connie Mack stadium tomorrow night between the league-leading Phillies and the St. Louis Cardinals. Now's about the time for Gene Mauch to start widening the gap.

You know, little kids couldn't possibly get into as much trouble as parents hope they won't.

If you want to be popular, learn to enjoy being bored by others.

Watch your driving, please.

SCRANTON LEADS NEW ATTACK

Goldwater Foes Seek Platform He'd Dislike

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Republican foes of Sen. Barry Goldwater conducted a flanking attack by way of the party's platform today in their almost hopeless battle to dislodge the Arizona senator from command of next week's GOP national convention.

But Goldwater continued to gain strength as House Republican leaders Charles A. Halleck was recruited to second the senator's nomination. Senate GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen's nomination will put Goldwater's name before the delegates next week.

As one Goldwater aide put it, this placed the party's leadership in both houses of Congress "in Senator Goldwater's corner."

Forces backing Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania fought on, however. They pressed an attack launched by Scranton yesterday in demanding a platform plank expressing disapproval of the John Birch Society, which contains many Goldwater partisans.

Led by the Governor, Goldwater's only major rival for the nomination, the anti-Goldwater Republicans pressed for a platform they knew would be repugnant to the Senator.

Rep. Abner Sibal of Connecticut, a platform committee member, put the anti-extremist plank on public display for the Scranton forces.

Sibal said he was "not indulging in guilt by association" or implying that Goldwater was in agreement with Birchite points of view. But the congressman said he knows of "some John Birch people who are actively supporting Sen. Goldwater's candidacy."

"I would think Sen. Goldwater would appreciate the party's doing this for him," Sibal told reporters before offering the platform committee the proposed resolution. It would state that: "... we repudiate the efforts of irresponsible, extremist groups, such as the John Birch Society and others, to discredit our party by their effort to infiltrate positions of responsibility in the party, or to attach themselves to its candidates."

The platform committee's lead-off witness in public hearings starting today was New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who cut off his own campaign for the presidential nomination to support Scranton.

Rockefeller was armed with a set of platform recommendations not tailored for Goldwater.

The anti-extremist proposal was advanced by the Scranton camp as a follow-up to earlier urgings of a civil rights plank unacceptable to the front-runner.

Dr. Arthur S. Flemming, a former Eisenhower Administration cabinet member testifying on behalf of the non-partisan National Council of Churches, failed upon the convention today to endorse the new civil rights law — which Goldwater voted against — and to support vigorous enforcement of the statute.

Flying West Thursday

Keller Sees Gov. In 'Uphill Battle'

State Senator Marvin V. Keller and his wife, Dorothy, will leave Thursday by air for San Francisco where the senator will join other delegates to the Republican National Convention.

The senator will check into the Mark Hopkins Hotel and on Friday will begin weekend meetings with other members of the Pennsylvania delegation.

"Reasonable" Chance

Keller, who is pledged to Gov. William W. Scranton on the first ballot, said he thinks Scranton has a "reasonable" chance of stopping front-running Senator Barry Goldwater from getting the Presidential nomination.

"I personally think its going to be an uphill battle," Keller said. Keller, who lives in Newtown Township, said that it would be "close" for Goldwater on the first ballot, one way or the other. The Arizona senator needs 655 delegates to win the nomination.

The convention officially begins on Monday.

Also from Bucks County will be Mrs. Grace Pickering of Langhorne and her husband, Edward. Mrs. Pickering is an alternate delegate. State Committeeman Dr. George Shaffer and Mrs. Shaffer will be present.

SENATOR KELLER

Keller's living quarters are located behind the headquarters of the Pennsylvania delegation. The hotel is 10 to 12 miles from the Cow Palace where the convention will be held.

"We won't be able to walk," Keller said with a laugh.

He Raises Ponies On His Ranch But -

There's No 'Horsing Around' By Bucks' New Bill Collector

By JIM STANTON
Courier-Times Staff Writer

Albert Cooney, Bucks County's new "hard-nosed" bill collector, has begun whittling down the huge $200,000 debt which deadbeats owe the county in fines, costs and support orders.

Cooney reported that he has collected a total of $1,100 in his first two weeks on the job.

Back support payments which husbands have neglected to pay for the wife and kids make up $104,000 of the outstanding $200,000.

Means Business

To show that he means business, Cooney, a deputy sheriff, brought the full weight of the law against an estranged Quakertown man who had long ignored the court order to pay $10 a week for the support of each of his four children.

The man is now behind bars at Bucks County Prison facing a charge of contempt of court. He faces a maximum sentence of six months.

"I want these delinquents to know that the county means business," Cooney said. "We are going to use every means at our disposal to make sure these people pay their just debts."

Addresses Changed

Cooney said that his principal difficulty is that many delinquents have changed their addresses.

What means does the sheriff use to get his man?

Cooney ticked off a few sources of information used to trace his "clients."

"Neighbors, police department, post office, employers... I use them all," Cooney said.

Gets His Man

"I already have spent one whole day tracking a man down," Cooney said.

Cooney's hours are his own.

"I'll meet with them morning, noon or night either here or at their place of business or at their homes," the deputy sheriff said.

Cooney was asked how his clients "received" him.

"Usually most of them are
(Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Local Powder Puff Derby Entrants Delayed By Storms

The Levittown Times

Delaware Valley's Greatest Home Newspaper

TUESDAY, JULY 7, 1964

PAGE 3

In Planning Community College

Farley, Canby Disagree With Berkes On Role Of County

Commissioner Walter S. Farley Jr. today disagreed with fellow Democrat Milton Berkes on the role the Bucks County board of commissioners is to play in planning a community college.

Berkes, chairman of the Falls Township supervisors, on Friday said the commissioners were putting politics ahead of education in wanting to appoint themselves college trustees.

Replying to Berkes' charge, Farley said: "Berkes, like so many people, doesn't understand the power that the trustees of a community college have. We can't allow ourselves to get obligated for excessive costs," Farley said. "We must have something to say about how the money is spent because we are the ones obligated by the law to raise and provide it."

Initially, the commissioners intend to appoint a seven-member board of trustees with the commissioners occupying three of the posts.

Canby Agrees
Commissioner Joseph O. Canby, a Republican, agreed with Farley. "Berkes has his own show to run down there," Canby said. "We'll run our own up here."

Both Farley and Canby agreed they are hoping the community college expenditure won't cost the taxpayers of the county over a two-mill increase in taxes. "Just because the law allows the commissioners the limit of five mills doesn't mean they have to go up to the limit," said Canby.

Farley emphasized that the Community college trustees are an appointed body. "They can't do it alone. They can hire teachers, select the site, choose the building. They are not obligated or allowed to spend more than will take five mills to pay."

Tremendous Power
"Because of this tremendous power they have which isn't clearly mandated in the new law," said Farley "it is mandatory, as I see it, that the commissioners are trustees."

"The commissioners must be trustees until the guide lines, a policy and other standards have been created and set up."

"We expect to sit down soon with the Montgomery County Commissioners to talk the matter over. They have gone to Harrisburg to consult with officials for a clarification of the law which is very hazy, grey and very new."

"No one, not even in Harrisburg," said Farley, "has been able to give a clear interpretation of the new law. The act encourages renting old buildings, and not going overboard on costs with new structures."

5 Have Plans
So far, Farley and Canby said, only five counties have plans for community colleges, Bucks and Montgomery being two of them.

Canby said: "If we can establish a community college for one mill extra that's the idea of the new law. The mechanics of this new law are still so fuzzy that we must go to Harrisburg to get some advice on where we stand and what we can do."

"We are hoping to appoint trustees that will cooperate with us. We want down-to-earth people and men and women with whom we can work and know what they are doing," said Canby.

Canby pointed out that Chief County Commissioner J. Justus Bodley, who is now vacationing in Europe, hopes a community college can be set up with a two-mill tax increase.

Canby also emphasized that favoring a community college does not mean the commissioners are against extension centers such as set up by Drexel, Temple or Penn State.

"A community college will not crowd out any private educational institutions," said Canby.

Births

Lower Bucks Hospital July 5

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Estdadt, 52 Moon Drive, Fallington, boy
Mr. and Mrs. John Finley, 20 Perennial Lane, Willingboro, N.J., girl

Mr. and Mrs. James Napoli, 806 Jefferson Ave., Bristol, girl

July 6
Mr. and Mrs. Philip Ullom, 7 Black Pine Lane, Levittown, boy

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Brady, 48 Oval Turn Lane, Levittown, boy

Mr. and Mrs. Deibert Shafar, 19 Silver Spruce Road, Levittown, girl

Man Pays $34 For Shoplifting

A Philadelphia man paid $34 in fines last night after being arrested by Bristol Township police on shoplifting charges.

Richard Gray, 36, of 6226 Race St., was arrested at 4:40 p.m. yesterday at the Shop-Rite store, Route 413 and Durham Road, after two girls told police they saw the man taking items.

Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Rene J. Tritschler, Croydon, Gray was fined $25 and $9 costs.

U2 Downed, Peking Claims

TOKYO (UPI) — Radio Peking reported that an American-made U2 jet reconnaissance plane piloted by a Nationalist Chinese was shot down over mainland China today.

The Japanese language broadcast monitored in Tokyo did not give any details of the alleged incident, saying only that it occurred over the "eastern part" of the mainland.

Lower Bucks Powder Puff Derby participants Yvette Hortman and Mary Loch landed in Atlantic City at 11 a.m. today in the final leg of the 18th annual All-Women Transcontinental Air Race.

The derby, with 104 women as pilots and co-pilots of the 56 planes which started from Fresno, Cal., ends tomorrow. The winner is determined by a large-scale Honeywell computer which evaluates each score in the handicapped race through information fed to the machine from officials at the various approved stopovers along the route.

In Lead
As of last night a New York mother of three was in the lead. She is Mrs. Dorothy Julich of Jackson Heights. Her co-pilot is Mrs. Esther Hill of North Maspeth, N.Y.

Although the two took over the lead last night, their standing could change by tomorrow when all figures have been evaluated by the computer.

Mrs. Hortman and Mrs. Loch were expected at Atlantic City yesterday afternoon but bad weather grounded more than two dozen pilots in the race in the Arkansas - Missouri area as thunderstorms made flying hazardous.

The Lower Bucks women are flying in plane No. 13.

Mrs. Hortman manages the Morrisville Airport for her commercial airline - pilot husband. Mrs. Loch, a newcomer to the race, is from Morrisville.

Come To The Fair (20,000 Did)

Crowds line the outdoor stage to watch the Bucky Harris Talent Show during opening night of the third annual Fairless Hills Country Fair. Over 20,000 went to the fair — largest opening day crowd in its history. (Courier-Times Photo)

Fairless Hills Country Fair Has Largest Opening Crowd

Yesterday's opener of the six-day Fairless Hills Country Fair drew an estimated 20,000 people — the largest opening day crowd in the fair's brief history.

Now in its third year, the fair has become an anxiously-awaited summer attraction. It's held at the Fairless Hills Shopping Center.

The fair opened with a thrilling performance by The Flying Barrets, aerialists who perform 125 feet high without nets. They will continue their performances daily at 4:30 and 10:30 p.m.

with a special Saturday show at 1:30 p.m.

Several thousand spectators watched the Bucky Harris Talent Show, the main attraction last night held on the outdoor stage across from the Eric Theater.

A spot check of some of the charity booths revealed "brisk business." The Levittown Drum and Bugle Corps was doing well with its baseball milk bottle game. The Fairless Hills Steelers reported the best night in their history with a miniature road racing game.

Over 25,000 were expected today and tonight. Tonight's show will be highlighted by the Tri-County Band at 7 o'clock, the Levittown Drum and Bugle Corps at 8:30, and the Barber-shop Harmony Chorus at 9:30.

Tomorrow's entertainment calls for the United States Steel Chorus at 7:30 and 8:30 p.m., and the Fairless Hills Steelers at 8 o'clock.

The fair is open daily from 4 to 10:30 p.m. and Saturday from noon to 11 o'clock.

Bristol Man Awarded $5

A Bristol man, Don Crohe of 324 Hayes St. was the winner of the $5 Courier-Times news tip award last week.

Don telephoned the newspaper when fire broke out at the Emilie Methodist Church last Monday.

Each week the Courier-Times awards $5 to the first person who telephones the best tip of the week to WI-3-1000.

Middletown Supervisors

Board Proclaims Soap Box Derby Day

Middletown Township's Board of Supervisors have proclaimed Sunday as "Lower Bucks County Soap Box Derby Day."

The supervisors, in their proclamation, invited all citizens to view the coasting classic and extended their best wishes and congratulations to all 46 boys who will participate.

The eighth annual Lower Bucks event, sponsored by the Courier - Times and Reedman Chevrolet, will be held at 2 p.m. on Woodbourne Road, between Newportville and Oxford Valley Roads. A gala pre-race parade is scheduled for 1 p.m.

Inspect Racers
The 46 boys will have their racers inspected Saturday, starting at 9 a.m., at the Levittown Fire Co. No. 2 hall. After passing inspection, the cars will be impounded overnight in the fire house until the boys take their trial run down the new 975-foot course Sunday morning.

The proclamation, issued by Barry R. Evans, township manager, was signed by township supervisors James L. Wright Jr., chairman; Aldridge (Augie) Everitt, vice chairman; Thomas Thompson, Mrs. Mary W. Stemme and John L. Lindsay.

"This program is outstanding in our community in bringing together individuals and civic organizations all working for the welfare of our youth," the proclamation read. "This program has as its objective the stimulation of ingenuity and enterprise among the youth of our community and the nation."

Page 3 Extra

By Sandy Oppenheimer

Rev. L. Thomas Moore Jr. of the fire-stricken Emilie Methodist Church of Levittown was in the other day with a story about the revised services.

"We're going to use the chapel, the old church building, next door," he said. "I wonder if you can use a picture." Told there was none on file Reverend Moore said he would bring one down. He started to walk out then came back. "Come to think of it," he said, "I can't, since it was among those papers that burned up."

Rep. James J. A. Gallagher found out working in front of a pizza oven isn't quite like sitting through legislative sessions in Harrisburg.

The Democratic assemblyman from Bucks County's second district decided to try his hand at working at St. Michael's Fair which concluded last Saturday night. It was the first year the Legislature had adjourned early enough to enable Gallagher to "pitch in" and help his parish fair.

For six nights Jim was dishing out the pizza pies at the popular stand on the church fair grounds.

But suddenly he developed a case of pneumonia and wound up in Lower Bucks County Hospital for the entire second week of the fair. Apparently the sudden change from the hot pizza oven to the cool air brought on the mild attack.

Anyway, Jim is resting comfortably at home at 26 Flower Lane, Farmbrook, Levittown, after leaving the hospital three days ago. Right now he's staying away from pizzas.

Daniel Robey is thankful somebody was fishing along the Delaware River yesterday. If they weren't the 25-year-old steelworker from Levittown may not have been alive today.

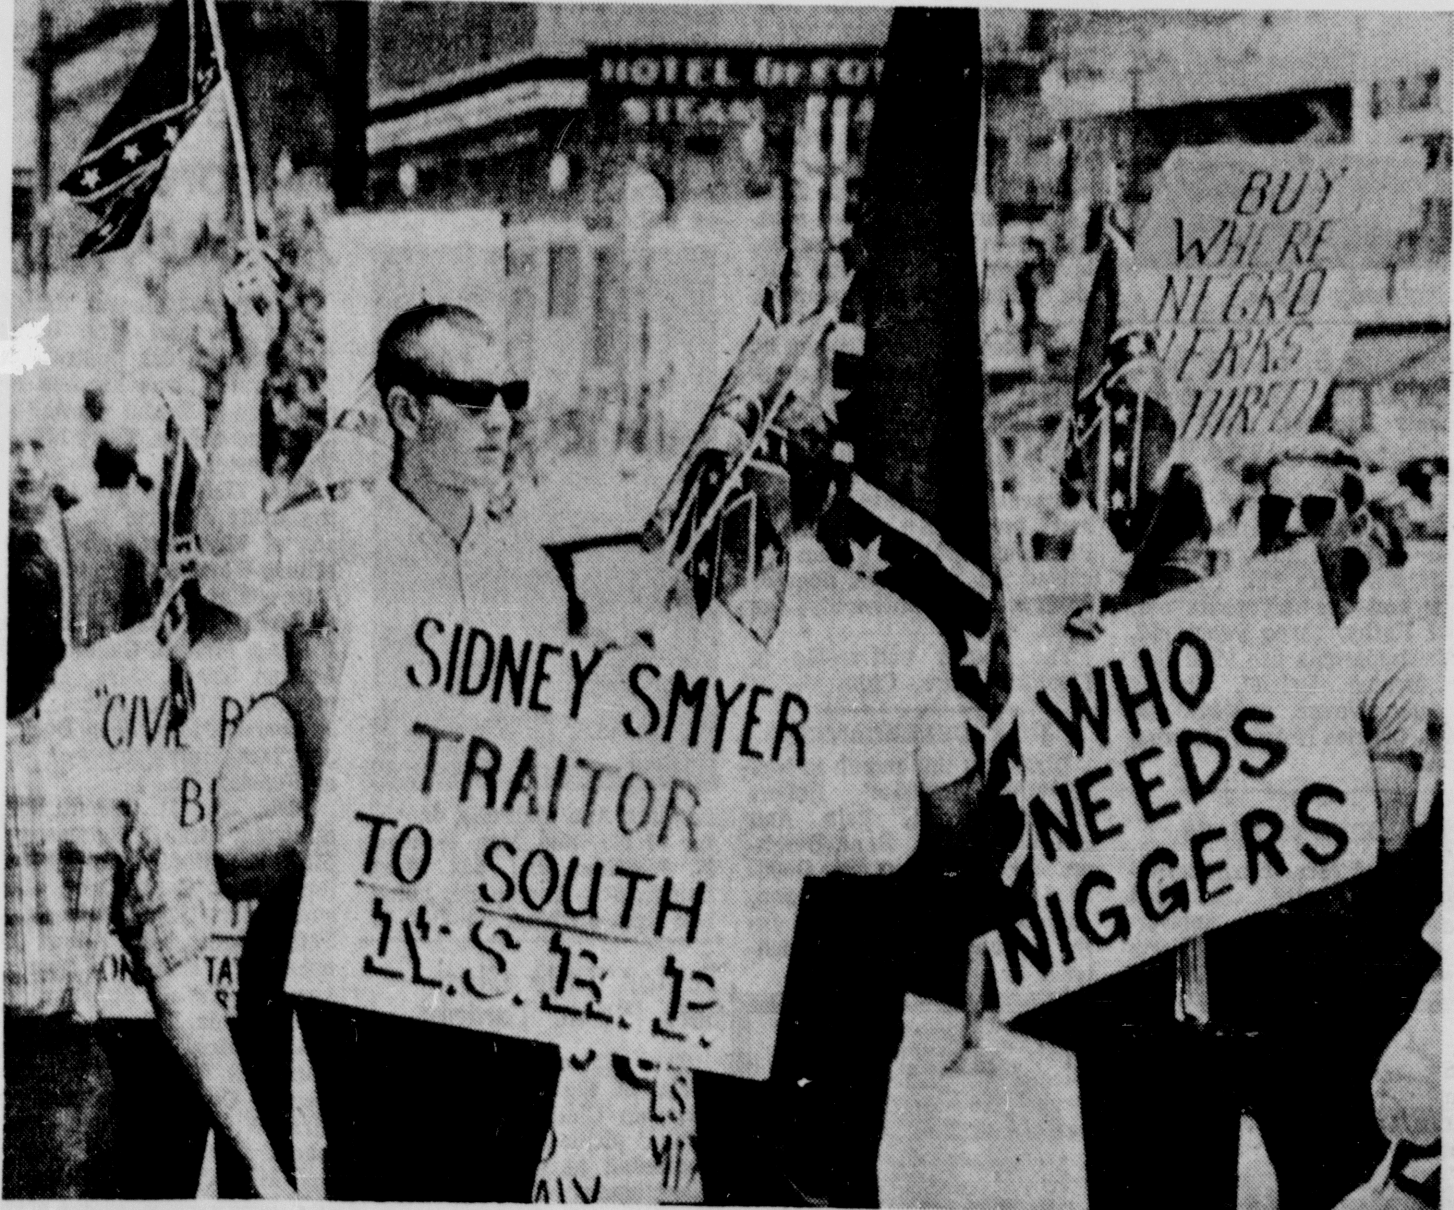

Robey, who recently took up skin diving as a hobby, was doing a bit diving yesterday off the docks of U.S. Steel's Fairless Works plant. He was about 100 feet from shore in water 18 to 20 feet deep when he lost his tank.

With the breathing apparatus out of his mouth, Robey began yelling for help as he floundered about.

John Jolly, a Philadelphian, who was fishing nearby, heard Robey's call and swam to the rescue.

After bringing Robey to shore, Jolly went back to retrieve the diving equipment. "He was held back somewhat," Robey remarked, "as he had his trousers on and I gave him a hand coming back the second time."

Robey, who lives at 45 Twin Leaf Lane, Thornridge, "I assure owe my life to him. I'm glad he was out fishing."

National States Rights Party marched today in front of stores and cafeterias in Birmingham, Ala., which have desegregated their facilities since passage of civil rights bill. In front of one store they march on same sidewalk as pickets protesting alleged job discrimination. Sidney Smyer, referred to in one of these signs, is a community leader appointed to a committee by President Johnson to implement the Rights bill. (UPI Telephoto)

Diplomats Study Plan

Soviet Surprises With U. N. Force Proposal

By ALBERT E. KAFE

TOKYO (UPI) — Japanese and foreign diplomats in Tokyo today studied a surprise Soviet proposal for a permanent United Nations military force to safeguard world peace.

The Soviets proposed that the peace-keeping force exclude the big five powers holding seats on the Security Council — the United States, Russia, Britain, France, and Nationalist China. Officials said Japan would ask Moscow for further details on the proposal, which was made yesterday in a memorandum to the Japanese Foreign Office.

(The Soviet Union shed no further light immediately on the proposal. The Kremlin issued no statement in Moscow and the Soviet press was silent on the matter.)

Russian charge d'affaires Anatoli A. Rozanov, who submitted the memorandum to Foreign Vice Minister Tako Oda, said copies of the proposal were being sent to other U.N. member governments.

Waiting For Note
The United States, which first proposed a U.N. force at the end of the Korean War, said in Washington Monday night it had not received a copy of the note. U.N. sources in New York also said they had no knowledge of the note.

It was not immediately clear why the Kremlin decided to make the proposal at this time, or why it chose the Japanese Foreign Office as a roundabout channel for publicizing the proposal.

The Soviet initiative, reported to newsmen by the foreign office, was surprising in view of Russia's refusal to contribute financially toward previous U.N. peace-keeping operations, notably in the Congo.

The memorandum said the Soviets would be willing to bear a share of the costs of a permanent U.N. force providing certain conditions are met. It said the force should be composed of personnel of U.N. member states other than the five permanent members of the Security Council — the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain, France, and Nationalist China.

Remain Firm
In offering to share the costs of the proposed force, the Russians remained firm on their previous and primary condition that decisions on the establishment of a U.N. peace-keeping operation and expenditures involved be made exclusively by the 11-nation Security Council. The Soviet Union and the other permanent council members have veto power.

Violence Accompanies Breakthrough

Negroes Crack Barriers In Over 50 Southern Cities

ATLANTA (UPI) — Negroes have used the new civil rights law to crack racial barriers in hotels, restaurants and theaters in more than 50 southern cities, a UPI survey showed today.

But violence has accompanied this breakthrough in at least five of the 11 states of the old Confederacy. A number of restaurants and theaters and one hotel closed rather than serve Negroes.

Surprisingly, some former racial trouble spots were among the cities accepting desegregation without incident. Restaurants in Birmingham, Ala., Albany, Ga., Williamson, N. C., and Danville, Va., quietly served Negro customers and three hotels in Jackson, Miss., allowed Negroes as guests.

The law prohibiting discrimination in public accommodations was met with violence in some areas of Arkansas, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas. The worst outbreak was at Lake Texarkana on the Texas-Arkansas border where one white man and five Negroes were wounded by gunfire during a "swim-in" by Negroes.

Other incidents saw three Negroes chased from an Atlanta restaurant by the pistol-waving owner and a group of whites with ax handles; eight Negroes roughed up by whites when they left a restaurant at Pine Bluff, Ark.; a clash between 50 whites and 30 Negroes at a Laurel, Miss., hamburger shop; a racial fight at a nightclub at Lafayette, La.; two Negroes chased from a theater at Greenwood, Miss., and Negroes stoned at an Americus, Ga., theater.

Two restaurants at Charlottesville, Va., and Durham, N.C., and a theater at Williamston, said they were closing to avoid integration and a Richmond, Va., steak house became a private club for members only.

At Jackson, Miss., the 250-room Robert E. Lee Hotel announced it was closing rather than desegregate. A sign on the door of a club in the basement of the hotel said, "Closed in despair."

Weather

LOCAL FORECAST: Mostly sunny, quite warm today, high 90. Fair tonight, low 60. Tomorrow, variable cloudiness, quite warm and humid, high 90.

SHORE FORECAST: Fair today and tomorrow, visibility 5 miles or more. Winds onshore 10-15 knots today and tonight, variable 5 knots other times through tomorrow. Water temperature at Atlantic City: 63 (8 a.m.).

High (yesterday): 84.
Low (yesterday): 61.
Low this morning: 62.

Sunset tonight: 8:31 p.m.
Sunrise tomorrow: 5:37 a.m.
Sunset tomorrow: 8:31 p.m.

Tomorrow's Tides

At Bristol
High 2:31 a.m. Low 9:07 a.m.
High 2:59 p.m. Low 10:14 p.m.
—for the tides at Morrisville, add 15 minutes for high tide and 45 minutes for low tide.

*—for the tides at Morrisville add 15 minutes for high tide and 45 minutes for low tide.

By United Press International	High	Low	Pcp
Boston, c	75	60	.01
Charl'ton, S.C. cy	82	70
Des Moines, c	90	75
El Paso, pc	100	77
Ind'polis, cy	73	60	.18
Los Angeles, c	81	58
Miami, c	88	74	1.52
New Orleans, cy	93	74
New York, c	88	64
Raleigh, c	89	62
San Fran. cy	63	52
Spokane, c	82	57
Washington c	90	65
Wichita, c	104	75

Morrisville Youths Learn To Swim From Experts

Frank Torok, swim instructor at the Morrisville Pool, holds his arms out above a group of students he is teaching how to swim at the pool.

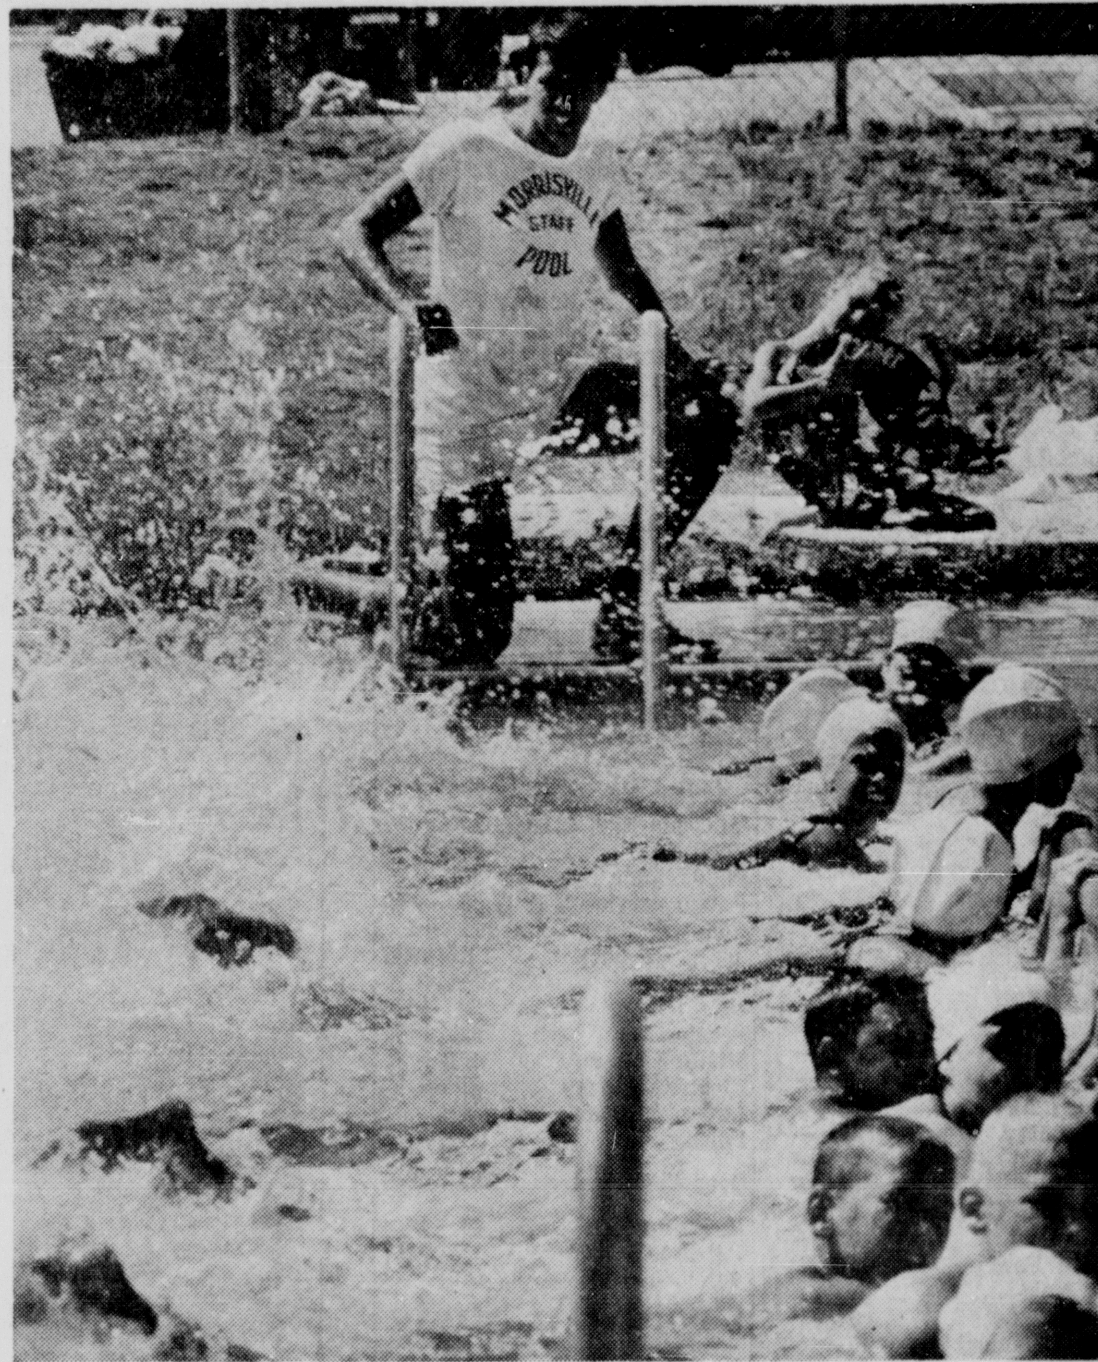

Larry Bryce of 606 Osborne Ave., Morrisville, cuts a neat figure in a practice dive at the pool. He is a member of the pool's diving team which gives exhibitions and takes part in competitions during the summer.

A group of youngsters dives into the water at the Morrisville Community Pool today in preparation to undergoing supervised swim instructions. Swim instructions are held daily from 10 to 12 a.m. for all borough youths.

Larry Bryce of Morrisville, a member of the diving team, performs a swan dive and heads down into the water at the pool. This is one of many activities conducted at the public pool.

Swim instructor Lee Rockafellow of Morrisville oversees a class of youngsters who are learning to swim at the pool. (Courier-Times Photos by Ligos)

In Lower Makefield Dr. Kustaborder Named As Planner

The Lower Makefield Board of Supervisors last night appointed Dr. H. Lee Kustaborder of 1540 Makefield Road to a five-year term on the planning commission.

Dr. Kustaborder is a dentist with offices in his home. He is president of the Yardley-Makefield Recreation Board.

He replaces Edward Frensch, whose term on the planning commission expired.

Other Action

In other matters, the board approved a resolution authorizing the purchase of a tract of land for $1,700 from John J. Zaluski of Morrisville. The tract would be used to extend South Drive in the Sylvan Terrace area.

The supervisors, meeting in the municipal building, also approved a request by Stylecraft Builders of Philadelphia for the withdrawal of Parktown Estates Plan Section 2A.

A township spokesman explained that the builders, who have already built 30 homes in the Parktown Estates area, no longer plan to work in the township and have dropped plans to build another section.

2 Items Not Ready

Two items listed on the agenda in reference to Valleywood Section 3 were dropped when the plans were incomplete. The final plans for the section and the escrow agreement were scheduled for consideration by the board.

Miss Mary Banko of Big Oak

Road addressed the board briefly during the public session. She asked if the board had replied to a May 21 request by Bucks County Judge John Fullham on a definition of horticulture. The supervisors said they had no knowledge of such a request.

Miss Banko had previously battled the Penn Tree Co. on Big Oak Road to try to stop its operations, which, she said, were against the township zoning ordinances. She said the firm was allowed to practice horticulture but not permitted to sell plants not grown on the site. The firm is located near her home.

L. Makefield Board To Meet

Two requests will be aired at a meeting of the Board of Adjustment of Lower Makefield at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the municipal building on Edgewood Road.

A request Evelyn Peake of Oxford Valley Road has been made for a special exception to Ordinance 50, article three, section 301, to operate a commercial kennel on the premises. Mary Greenwood owns the property.

Another request will be heard from J. H. General Contractors of 4737 Grandview Ave., Cornwells Heights, for a special interpretation of Ordinance 50, article 10, section 1022, in reference to fencing requirements.

Employees At Mercer Cited For Service

A total of 41 employees of the Mercer Hospital, Trenton, were recognized recently for having completed multiples of five years of service, including two employees who have been with the hospital for 40 years.

Miss Emma Harm, administrative secretary, and Miss Edna Stallings, chief switchboard operator, have been continuously employed by the hospital since 1923.

Another long-time employee who was recognized at a dinner given by the hospital's board of directors was Miss Sarah Harrison, director of nursing and director of nursing education, who has been with the hospital for 30 years.

Service pins designating the years of service were presented to the employees by Lee A. Wiley, a vice president of the board of directors.

Others who were given recognition include: For 20 years, Miss Edith Burd, Miss Rose Freeman, Mrs. Edna May and Mrs. Lucille Rogers.

For 15 years, Mrs. Agnes Bachetti, Mrs. Hazel Burns, Mrs. Sarah Coleman and Miss Alice Kravich; for 10 years, Mrs. Virginia Banion, Mrs. Esther Baytop, Miss Dorothy Brink, Mrs. Tessie Grunewald, Mrs. Louise Hunt, Mrs. Essie McKinney, Dr. Jorge Mora, Miss Kathryn Schumann and Mrs. Louise Spiro.

For five years, Earl Bethea, Mrs. Sarah Brand, John Cas-

Morrisville Yardley Makefield

tergine, Dr. Siu Won Chan, Mrs. Hazel Chasey, Mrs. Elizabeth Fleckenstein, Mrs. Shirley Foxworth, Mrs. Carolyn Godin, Theodore Gray, Mrs. Mildred Hartz, Mrs. Ruth Hobbs, Mrs. Beatrice Hutton, John Johnson, Mrs. Jeanette McDonald, Mrs. Lucille Otto, Miss Dorothy Pierson, Miss Evelyn Sharp, Mrs. Maxine Towns, Andrew Williams and Mrs. Earline Williams.

Mailbox Hit By Fireworks

A mailbox was blown apart by firecrackers in front of a Lower Makefield home, police reported today.

The damaged box was discovered by Mr. and Mrs. Gene Baer of 1803 Westover Road when they returned from a July 4 weekend vacation. Mrs. Baer told police the box was damaged by fireworks sometime between late July 4 and Sunday night when they returned.

Lower Makefield police said the box was completely destroyed.

Yardley-Makefield Co. Battles Woods, Hay Fires

The Yardley-Makefield Fire Co. battled two fires — one yesterday and one early today.

A fire broke out at 6:15 o'clock last night in a stack of hay under tow by a tractor on Dolington Road, north of Woodside.

The tractor, driven by farmer Walter Leedom of Dolington Road, Lower Makefield, was pulling a four wheel trailer filled with hay.

$300 In Damages

Lower Makefield police said that the damage was approximately $300 to the hay and trailer. Police also said it was undetermined how the fire started.

Members of the fire company responded and quickly brought the fire under control. No one was injured.

Patrolman Rudolph Fatyol of Lower Makefield police discovered a woods fire while on patrol at 3:05 a.m. today.

County Judge John Fullham or

He alerted the Yardley Makefield Fire Co. from Yardley and the firemen battled the blaze on Big Oak Road, west of Stony Hill Road for nearly two hours.

The woods fire was brought under control by 5 a.m., police said. There were no buildings in the area, and no damage was reported other than the woods.

Police said no one was injured.